

An exclusive D&D 4E Comicon Delve

Presented by BENS RPG PILE.COM

Once peaceful artisan town nestled in the foothills of the Stonemarch Mountains of Nentir Vale is facing imminent disaster. As the mountain reaches the pinnacle of its historic volcanic eruption, the villagers are forced to seek out the only remaining means of guarding themselves from a cataclysmic end... the Shards of Protection!

An Orc fortress wedged high atop the mountainside unknowingly stands between the town's inhabitants and near certain death. The only saving grace lies within the hands of four brave souls who must now infiltrate the stronghold, re-assemble the Shards of Protection and eliminate the Warband's leadership in the hope of neutralizing this ominous threat.

What say you?

The race against time has begun. There's not a second to waste.
Your adventure begins...Now!

Lava and a Cup of Java is an exclusive Dungeons and Dragons 4E Phoenix Comicon delve, presented by BensRPGPile.com. Using second-level pre-rolled characters, teams of four will have up to 60 minutes to complete the dungeon delve. A unique scoring system will determine the best overall team, whose winning game will be broadcast on our iTunes video podcast.

